Recently, the overall calcium pantothenate market has been weak and stable. The price of first-tier and second-tier manufacturers is broad, the market demand is general, the customer is mainly buy and use, and the price is stable in the short term. The current domestic quotation is RMB52-55/KG, and the export quotation is about USD6.5/KG.

AMINO ACID

02

Methionine: Recently, the price of solid egg manufacturers has increased, and the actual signing of orders is not much. Trade market inquiries increased. The actual signing of liquid egg manufacturers is slightly better than the previous period, and the quotation at the trade end is temporarily stable. End users are bearish in the early stage, focusing on the recent adjustment of factory production and exports.

Recently, in order to meet the growing needs of overseas business development, Xianle Health announced that it will invest $40 million in a new production plant in Thailand. As the eighth production base built by Sienle Health in the world, the Thai factory has automated packaging production lines covering a variety of nutrition and health product forms such as soft candies, soft capsules, tablets and hard capsules, which can empower the rapidly expanding market demand in Southeast Asia. At the same time, this move will further consolidate and expand Xianle Health's local production capacity layout in the global market and accelerate the implementation of its globalization strategy.
